ABSTRACT

This CD-ROM helps learners discover forests in Hawaii and around the world through many science activities. Activities include climbing to the canopy where the calls of unusual birds can be heard; discovering bizarre creatures that dwell in dark, damp lava tubes; spinning the globe and meeting extraordinary forest plants and animals; and creating unique multimedia forest stories by searching for images and arranging them in a sequence that best fits the story. A list of resource agencies for conservation projects is provided. (SAH)
